Dear Colleague:

I am pleased to announce that Sunanda V. Kane, M.D., will be the 46th James L.A. Roth Visiting Professor. Dr. Kane is a Professor of Medicine at Mayo Clinic College of Medicine and a Consultant for the Department of Medicine, Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology at Mayo Clinic Rochester.

This year's Roth Lecture will take place on Thursday, February 16, 2012. Dr. Kane will address the topic: Management of Inflammatory Bowel Disease in the Era of Changing Paradigms. The Roth Lecture will take place in the Bluemle Life Sciences Building, Conference Room 101 – 233 South 10th Street in Philadelphia, PA, promptly at 3:00 pm. A reception for Dr. Kane follows immediately after.

Dr. Kane will spend two days at the Jefferson Digestive Disease Institute as the Roth Visiting Professor. In addition to the Thursday afternoon lecture, gastroenterologists and other healthcare providers are welcome to participate in related case presentation sessions and other lectures on Wednesday and Thursday. Please review the attached flyer for the complete two day program. Many sessions will qualify for AMA PRA Category 1 credit[™]. *You may attend all or part of these sessions.

I ask that you please post the enclosed flyer announcing the lectureship in your department and encourage your colleagues to participate. There is no fee to attend, but we ask that you pre-register by visiting our website at <http://jeffline.jefferson.edu/jeffcme> and selecting the "Register Online" link. Those who pre-register for the February 16th lecture will be eligible for complimentary parking at the Jefferson Hospital for Neuroscience and Hamilton Building parking garages. For directions to either garage please visit www.jefferson.edu/cso/. Parking validation tickets will be provided at the event.

We look forward to seeing you at the Annual James L.A. Roth Visiting Professorship.

Yours truly,
